Key ordering Card – update for Interactive + G code

In our Online 244 issued March 2012 we introduced the new external plug pin G.

This plug pin must be assembled in the interactive chamber of all interactive+ G type only. To further upgrade the key ordering card of the Interactive+ (encoded magnetic strip), the printed combination on the card from now on will show "G" instead of A, to ensure assembling of the correct pin.

When the code is manually typed on the keypad or through the KC5 software, you should keep type in "A0" instead of "G0".
