Padlock G even more user friendly

As part of our continuous effort to make our products more user friendly we introduced a self locking screw with nylon patch instead of having two components for tightening the cylinder: screw and safety pin.

In this way assembling and disassembling will be much simpler.

This solution has been tested on a serious endurance test. Some padlocks were installed on high traffic trucks for a couple of months. The results were very positive.

In the near future you will receive the padlocks from stock with the new screws, without the safety pin.

In the new production we will eliminate the hole for the pin.
